

Attorney referrals are the lifeblood of The Hastings Law Firm. Over the years we have built referral relationships with attorneys from all areas of the legal community--from the largest law firms to sole practitioners fresh out of law school. Judges, prosecutors and attorneys from firms that have worked against us in the past are among our ever-growing group of referring attorneys. Our mission is to develop mutually beneficial relationships with other attorneys and law firms. As a referring attorney, you can be assured that when you refer a client to us, we have not only the expertise, but the financial resources to fully litigate even the most complex case. You can further be assured that your client will be represented with the highest professional and ethical standards, along with zeal, dignity and respect. We take every referral seriously and every new referral is given utmost personal attention.

As a referring attorney you will find us to be personable, accomodating and accessible. We are never too busy to talk to you or answer questions for you and your clients.
